Book Signing at Bistro Provence Feb. 14

"Aphrodesi" author John Oehler will sell & sign latest book Valentines night

On Valentine's night, Thursday, Feb. 14, author John Oehler, will be in selling and signing copies of his latest book, "Aphrodesia," at Bistro Provence, 13616 Memorial.

The book will be for sale during the restaurant's annual Valentine's dinner schedule.

Appropriately, the book begins in France, where a student at a top perfume school creates a scent based on the fragrance the Queen of Sheba wore to seduce King Solomon. When he tests it surreptitiously at a gathering of glitterati in the Panthéon in Paris, its effects on both men and women exceed his wildest hopes.

But then, the ingredient critical to his creation, disappears and he is expelled. Forced to take a mind-numbing job in New York, he becomes a prime suspect as a serial murderer in the deaths of people using a knock-off of his perfume. He must solve the mystery and find out who stole the ingredient in order to clear himself and end the murders.

Only books purchased that evening will be available for signing. This is Mr. Oehler's third book. For more information, go to www.johnoehler.com.

The west-side Bistro Provence, owned by Jean Philippe and Genevieve Guy, is located at 13616 Memorial Drive near Wilcrest. The cozy interior is highlighted by the blue and yellow colors of Provence, and its menu is full of the French country dishes for which the region is famed.
