FOUR SEASONS' DOES IT FOUR WAYS

Ringin' in the New Year Downtown Comes with Lots of Options

HOUSTON... Anyone in a quandary on what to do for kissing 2012 goodbye and welcoming in 2013 need only apply a little Four-sight. Downtown's Four Seasons Hotel, to be exact.

Four Seasons Hotel Houston with its highly popular Italian restaurant, Quattro, and hopping first-floor Lobby Lounge is offering four options in both celebrating the last day of the old year and the first day of the new.

Beginning with seating at 6:30 p.m. Monday, Dec. 31, Quattro is preparing a delicious five-course dinner for those with plans elsewhere (even if it's just to get home early). This early seating begins with a glass of sparkling wine. Guests will be on their way by 8:30. The cost is $85 per person, plus tax and gratuity.

Veteran revelers know any New Year's Eve party not at Four Seasons means settling for second best, and this year will be no exception. Beginning at 8:30, this year's gala offers a seven-course dinner, carefully planned by Executive Chef Maurizio Ferrarese. Live music from Ira Perez & Band will definitely prompt some dancing between courses and after dessert, and, of course, there's a champagne toast at midnight. The cost is $155 per person, plus tax and gratuity.

Oh, and with the safest drive home being the elevator, Four Seasons is offering to be home for gala guests with a stay in an executive suite for just $150.

And then there's the Lobby Lounge on the first floor where midnight will arrive with Adam and Sunjay singing holiday hits. The band performs from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. There are limited VIP Tables available for reservations on a first call, first booked basis.

On Tuesday, Jan. 1, the will rise – hopefully not too early – and 2013 will have begun. There's no question that starting a new year with Quattro's famed brunch (the one usually reserved for Sundays) is getting things off on the right foot. There's even the popular Bloody Mary Bar for that hair of the dog thing. Brunch runs from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. Cost is $65 for adults and $30 for children 6-12. Tax and gratuity are additional.

Reservations are required for the New Year's Eve early seating and gala are required. Reservations for New Year's Day brunch are recommended.
